Order To End Rail Strike

Army Serves it On Men Off Their Jobs And Also The Operators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The army served notice on striking railway men today that they will be dismissed unless they report for work by 4 p. m. (EST) Saturday or can prove they were physically unable to work.

At the same time, the army placed in effect hourly wage increases effective as of last Oct. 1, for men who have had no increase since September, 1948.

Secretary of the Army Pace announced the order within two hours after President Truman had instructed that the army take necessary action for full operation of the railroads. In harsh language, Mr. Truman told a news conference striking railroad workers had run out on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The army said the wage increase would be of an interim nature pending final settlement of the dispute between railroad management and unions over wages and working conditions. It said back payments to Oct. 1 will be made as soon as accounting and necessary adjustments can be made.

The army order and notice was sent to all railroad unions and rail operators involved in the work stoppage.

Signed by Assistant Army Secretary Karl R. Bendetsen, it said the army will recommend Congressional legislation to assure resumption and continuance of normal rail service if the unions and the operators fail to settle their differences "within a reasonable time."

On President's Authority
The army order is based upon authority received from the President last August 25. The army took technical control of the principal railroads at that time to end a strike.

The army order said the work stoppages which began in December and broke out again recently are "the unlawful actions of a relatively small group."

Pending at this time are contempt of court actions against the Brotherhood of Trainmen, based on allegation the union has disregarded court orders against a strike.

Mr. Truman volunteered his remarks on the rail situation.

He opened his news conference by reading a prepared statement (Please turn to page 4, Column 3)

Cut Usage on Basic Metals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The government plans a cut of 25 to 40 per cent April 1 in the amount of basic metals going into automobiles, stoves and home appliances.

Officials of the national production authority (NPA) disclosed this today, saying it will be necessary to save steel, copper and aluminum for defense purposes.

The cut in actual number of cars and appliances produced may be somewhat smaller than the cut in allowed use of metals, these officials said.

It will depend on the manufacturers' ability to substitute and conserve, using such things as plastic, for instance, in place of metals.

The auto industry last month promised a cut in use of basic metals for the present quarter, but NPA experts said a hoped-for drop in automotive orders for steel apparently has not taken place.

Consequently, the mandatory action is contemplated, affecting steel, copper and aluminum. Some other metals, such as nickel and cobalt, already are subject to curtailment as severe, or worse. The order probably will appear in about two weeks, giving producers at least a month to get set.

C. of C. to be Host at Dinner

Four hundred farmers are expected to attend the Soil and Crops Conference to be held in Sedalia Friday.

The dinner will be prepared and served at Convention hall by members of the board of directors of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

John F. Zander is purchasing agent for the food for the dinner.

Widow Anxious To Carry on

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8—(AP)—The widow of Rep. John Sullivan has put in her bid for the Democratic nomination for the Congressional seat left vacant by his death Jan. 29. He was a Democrat.

In letters to Democratic committeemen of wards in the 11th (St. Louis) Congressional district, Mrs. Leonor A. Sullivan said "John Sullivan had a program I would like to carry through."

"He and I worked together on congressional problems during his many years in Washington," she wrote. "Because of this I know the district, its people, their problems, how to get things done quickly in Washington to serve them and you."

Mrs. Sullivan served as secretary to her husband in Washington.

The ward committeemen will meet Friday to select a Democratic nominee. The special election to fill the vacancy is scheduled for March 9.

Confidence In Dawson

President Defends Him Against Report Made

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—President Truman accused a Senate banking sub-committee today of having made an asinine report in its findings that White House aide Donald Dawson has exercised influence on RFC loan policies.

At a news conference, the President strongly defended Dawson, one of his administrative assistants.

He said he had complete confidence in Dawson, and added that Dawson should not seek a public hearing before the Senate group, headed by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.).

The Fulbright committee, Mr. Truman said, ought to have asked Dawson for testimony before it made what he called this asinine report. Mr. Truman said he wanted to talk to the authors about it.

The President added that the chairman — he did not mention Fulbright by name — left town when he found out he wanted to see him.

Dawson, smiling, was in his usual seat in the rows behind the President as the news conference opened.

Fulbright's group is the investigating branch of the Senate banking committee. It filed a report Friday saying three members of the board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had been subversive to Dawson and others outside the agency.

Republicans are making campaign promises.

Living Cost to Still Go Up

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(AP)—The cost of living will keep on going up. The price czar admits it today by announcing a new deadline for halting the rise—next summer, he hopes.

Business wonders if he can make the new deadline stick. Food prices are still largely uncontrolled. Many articles of clothing are coming out from the freezer because they are needed by the armed forces and their production is to be encouraged.

And there is talk that union leaders are planning to test the "flexibility" policy of the wage control program by working for a sixth round of wage hikes. One big talking point will be that the workers' cost of living keeps rising, and he must have more pay to meet it.

Many industrialists and businessmen have been taking for granted all along that the present price can't be held—or won't be held.

A long list of spokesmen have been warning that the prices of finished products in their industries will have to go on higher. The inflationary pressure at the raw material level is still working its way up through the processing industries to the distributors and the merchants.

Retailers have been promised a new office of price stabilization order permitting them to raise prices. The order will permit them to add their traditional mark-ups to the goods they are now buying from their suppliers at higher price levels than they paid for most of the goods now on their shelves.

Large Circle Appears Around The Sun

A large circle around the sun about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon made an unusual spectacle in the sky showing through the clouds in bright spots on either side, above and below the sun. It gave the appearance of several suns in the sky.

Icy Blasts to East And South

By the Associated Press

Icy blasts from the midwest cut a wide path across eastern and southern states today, sending temperatures down to freezing in northern Florida and to near zero in Virginia.

The frigid weather continued in the north central region and the mercury dropped to 34 below in Wisconsin. It was sub-zero over much of the mid-continent.

The south shivered in the fresh outbreak of cold. Strong northwesterly winds added to the discomfort in the eastern cold belt. Traffic in some eastern areas was hampered by snow.

The cold air spread over the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Virginia and readings in many areas were far below freezing. It was 5 above in Pulaski, Va., 10 above in Roanoke, Va., 12 in Knoxville, Tenn., 15 in Raleigh, N. C., and Richmond, Va., 19 in Birmingham, 21 in Columbia, S. C., and 32 in Jacksonville and Tallahassee.

The north Atlantic coast was pounded by strong winds. Temperatures dropped sharply. In New York City it was 16 above early today compared to a high of 52 yesterday. The city's low for the winter season was 14 on Jan. 13. It was colder in upstate New York and readings were near zero over much of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The winter-weary north central region was hoping for the promise relief after another blast of sub-zero weather today. It was -34 at Grantsburg, Wis., -29 in International Falls, Minn., and -11 in Rockford, Ill. Chicago's early morning low was -9.

Nine Die in a St. Paul Blast

Extra Doctors And Nurses Called to Attend Injured

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 8—(AP)—Nine men and possibly more, were killed today by an explosion that roared through the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company, makers of Scotch tape.

Cause of the blast was not definitely known but officials of the company and fire department heads theorized that gas furnaces used in treating abrasives had exploded.

Bodies of six of the victims were brought from the blast scene to the Ramsey County morgue. Three other victims were dead on arrival at Ancker (City) hospital.

It was also reported that three more bodies had been removed from the wreckage. Whether they were among those at the morgue could not be checked definitely.

The company manufactures cellophane tape under the trade name of "Scotch tape," undercoating for automobiles and abrasives.

An early report from the Ramsey county coroner's office gave the number of dead as 15. This report said there were "eight dead in hospitals and six or seven more bodies that we can't get out."

A supervisor said there were 60 men in the six-story building when the blast came just as the shifts of workmen were being changed. Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. Several of the workmen with lesser injuries said they had heard reports there was a gas leak in the basement just before the explosion.

Two hours after the blast Ancker hospital reported its supply of blood for transfusions was exhausted and emergency calls for donors were made. Extra doctors and nurses were summoned.

Examination For Missouri Auto Drivers

Bill Providing it Gets Approval of House Committee

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8—(AP)—A bill to require examination of Missouri automobile drivers was approved by a House committee today.

It is designed to erase a stigma President Truman once said embarrassed him. He said in his home state of Missouri a crazy man could walk out of a mental hospital and buy a license to drive for a quarter.

The substitute bill approved by the committee today would make it a lot tougher to get and keep a license. Major provisions include:

New applicants for a driver's license would have to prove to state patrol examiners they had the physical and mental ability to handle a car.

Holders of present licenses would have to be examined if they let their licenses lapse or if they violated traffic laws and were temporarily suspended from the right to drive.

City driver's licenses would be abolished, except cities could still license taxicab drivers.

A person over 18 could get a chauffeur's license for $3 a year after proving in the examination he was capable. But to drive a school bus a chauffeur would have to be at least 21.

To drive a passenger car the applicant would have to be at least 16 years old, except students could get an instruction permit at 15.

Provides Suspension

The director of the revenue department could suspend chauffeur licenses up to one year. Magistrate or circuit judges could suspend or revoke any license. But municipal court judges or officials could only suspend licenses.

Revocations could be ordered for:

Conviction of manslaughter growing out of a traffic accident.

Conviction of driving drunk or drugged.

Conviction of leaving the scene of an accident.

Proof the applicant lied or made a false affidavit in getting his license.

Conviction of three charges of careless or reckless driving within a 12-month period.

Suspension could be ordered against a chauffeur by the director for:

Proof he was liable in a death, personal injury or serious property damage because of "wanton and reckless" operation of a motor vehicle.

Habitual reckless and careless operation of a vehicle.

Habitual violation of traffic laws.

If a driver had an accident and a judgment was found against him his license could be suspended unless he paid off the judgment.

A similar measure died last session because the two Houses couldn't agree.

The squabble of whether municipal authorities should have power to suspend or revoke licenses was a major point of contention last time. Today's bill is the committee's idea of a compromise or three bills it considered earlier.

Among new House bills today was one to permit state employees to come under the Federal Old Age Benefit insurance. A similar measure is pending in the Senate.

Another new measure, by Rep. Frank Maxxuca (D) of Jackson County, would force installation of windshields, lights, windshield wipers and tops on railroad work cars—those little vehicles that workers buzz up and down the rails on.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—President Truman today dared Congress to cut his $71,000,000,000 budget.

He told a news conference it is a good budget and a tight budget, and that he dared the legislators to do anything to it.

His remarks were touched off by a reporter's assertion that a number of Congress members have said they were going "to squeeze the water" out of the President's spending recommendations.

Mr. Truman said they were welcome to try.

He added that they threatened to do the same thing in past years and instead of cutting his budget they had added a couple of billion dollars to it.

Gas Line Break Is Repaired This Morning

Pressure Fell But Few Homes Wre Without Gas

Sedalia gas users were inconvenienced some today by a break in the Cities Service gas line six miles west of Sedalia and two miles south of Dresden, but it wasn't for long. However, few, if any, residences were completely without gas to heat their homes, according to William R. Rich, manager of the local Missouri Public Service Co., who also stated gas was back to normal by noon.

The break resulted about 9:30 to 9:45 o'clock Wednesday night and was discovered about 10:00 o'clock when gas pressure fell from 250 to 150 pounds. As soon as the drop in pressure was noticed, emergency calls were made to various employees of the company to report for duty.

Immediately the local gas service men started working in East Sedalia which has the lowest pressure area, while Mike Giokaris, superintendent of the gas department for the company in Sedalia, began his search for the break. As soon as it was discovered men were stationed at various valve points.

Control Gas Flow

Clinton Black, district engineer went to a location west of the break and controlled a valve there, Assistant District Engineer Jack Faber was stationed at the valve at the city limits just north of Sedalia and other men stationed at various gas pressure points. Their duties were to try and control the flow of gas and keep it moved into Sedalia without too much inconvenience.

Gas repairs from the local company and from the Cities Service went to the scene of the break and began working to make the necessary repairs. A break five-eighths of an inch around the 12-inch pipe had occurred.

Collar Around Pipe

Workmen began immediately to uncover the pipe by digging a large hole around the area. As soon as possible other workmen descended into it to check the break. Working at intervals of between two and three minutes, the men succeeded in placing a collar around the pipe. Several times a gasket would break and their work began all over again and this continued until the collar was finally fastened to hold the gas flow. The pressure was gradually increased and workmen remained to see that no further damage would result. About noon the normal gas pressure was restored.

Appreciates Cooperation

"Excellent cooperation between the gas users and the company was experienced. No sooner had we broadcast and made many, many telephone calls to our customers requesting them to cut their heating to 60-degrees than (Please turn to page 4, Column 6)

Three Accused in Bank Robbery

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Three men have been charged in federal warrants with the $8,855 robbery of the Monroe National bank at Columbia, Ill., Tuesday.

They are Patrick Kane, 25, Jack McAllister, 28, and Frank C. Daubach, 18. Police who arrested Kane in a St. Louis hotel Tuesday night said they recovered from him more than $7,000 of the money.

McAllister and Daubach admitted driving the getaway car used in the holdup but that McAllister denied having a part in the robbery.

A fourth man is sought by authorities.

The federal warrants were sworn out yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Arthur Felsen.

Friday World Day of Prayer

Program to be Given at the First Methodist Church

The World Day of Prayer which will be observed at the same hour Friday in 92 countries of the world will be held in Sedalia at the First Methodist church, Fourth street and Osage avenue, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Provisions have been made for a period of silent prayer and meditation preceding the service.

Organ music played by Mrs. C. D. Demand will begin at 2:45 o'clock so that those who wish to take advantage of an extra period of meditation may do so.

The theme of the services will be "Perfect Love Cast Out Fear." It has been adapted from the original written by German Christian women by Mrs. Ernest Liebel, president of the Sedalia Council of Church Women and Mrs. Luther Landis, first vice-president.

Mrs. Landis is general chairman of the program and will be assisted in the presentation by officers of the council.

In Two Sections

The program is divided into sections and will be presented as follows: "Adoration" by Mrs. Landis; "Penitence" by Mrs. Lon Leslie, second vice-president; "Assurance" by Mrs. Roy Gerster, third vice-president; "Intercession" by Mrs. Ralph Carrell.

The offering will be in charge of Mrs. Landis, presentation of offering, Mrs. Charles Plumlee, treasurer, dedication of offering, Rev. Roy Bowers, dedication of the people, Mrs. Ernest Liebel.

Mrs. Carrell has been appointed by the executive board to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. C. Arthur Freeberg, resigned.

The observance will be brought to a close with the benediction of the Rev. Mr. Bowers, followed by a brief period of silent meditation.

Special C. of C. Meeting

There will be a special meeting of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce board at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the C. of C. office.

Marriage License Issued

William Stanley Grother and Louise Z. Balke, both of Sedalia.

Chest X-rays Available At the Court House

The Pettis County Tuberculosis Association will take X-rays at the court house Friday and Friday night, Saturday and Saturday night.

This will give the public an opportunity to have a chest X-ray for the small amount of 75 cents.

Scout Week Observance By Kiwanis

Talk and Film in Color by Z. Lyle Brown at Session

The 41st birthday anniversary of Boy Scouts today and observance of National Boy Scout Week provided the theme for the Sedalia Kiwanis Club program in weekly meeting at Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

Z. Lyle Brown, vice-president of the Ozarks Council, the speaker, also presented a color film, "Philmont," depicting scenes of this Boy Scout ranch in New Mexico consisting of 143,000 acres. It was given the Boy Scouts of America by Wade Phillips, Tulsa, long a leader in the petroleum field and youth work, who died recently.

Mr. Brown, who was introduced by Program Chairman Bert Hathaway, in his talk before showing of the picture mentioned that since the starting of Scouting in this country in 1910, Boy Scout membership had reached a total of 2,071,649, supplemented by adult scout workers.

Council Membership

Lake of the Ozarks Council has the following membership as of December 31, 1950: cubs, 663; scouts, 1,008; explorers, 138; total, 1,829.

Sedalia Boy Scout membership figures to date are: Packs, 3; troops, 10; explorer units, 1; total, 14. Cubs, 90; scouts, 187; explorers, 16; total 293.

In Sedalia there are 102 adults registered in these units in addition to approximately 25 council and district scouts.

President T. H. Yount announced there would be a meeting of the board of directors at the home of Reinhold Fischer at 7:45 o'clock Friday night.

Guests at the meeting were: Kenneth and Wallace Hunt with their father, Ray Hunt.

Prison and Fine To Remington

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(AP)—Convicted perjurer William W. Remington today was sentenced to a maximum term of five years in prison and fined $2,000.

The 33-year-old former government economist was convicted by a federal court jury last night which decided he lied when he swore he never had been a Communist. The jury deliberated less than five hours.

The 33-year-old former government economist last night heard a jury of seven women and five men pronounce him guilty of lying to a federal grand jury last summer when he denied ever being a member of the Communist party.

Remington frowned heavily when he heard the verdict—but said nothing.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating about five hours. Its decision climaxed a 32-day trial during which the blond, handsome defendant was accused of transmitting government secrets to Elizabeth Bentley, self-described former Communist courier.

The brunette, Mrs. Remington testified against her husband during the trial. She is an admitted ex-Communist.

Guilty in Income Tax Evasion

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8—(AP)—Irvin L. Scott, Lebanon, Mo., business man today pleaded guilty to Federal income tax evasion.

Scott who waived indictment, was accused by the government in four counts of evading taxes for 1944 through 1947. The government said he paid taxes of $596 during the four-year period whereas he should have paid a total of $15,155.73.

Puerto Ricans Seize Nearby Height Without Firing a Shot

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Feb. 8—(AP)—U. S. tanks shelled Seoul's blackened ruins today and howitzers, wheeling into easy range, plastered Chinese positions north of the frozen Han river tonight.

Puerto Rican doughboys seized a commanding height only 4½ miles south of the former Korean republic capital. The entire Allied line advanced another mile or more toward Seoul. The Eighth army said:

"Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizable victory in terms of enemy losses. "No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

That was a cool military appraisal of a two-week series of armored punches and bayonet charges that have violently rid the snow-crustured ridges and valleys of thousands of Chinese on Seoul's approaches.

The Eighth army has estimated more than 57,000 Red casualties, most of them in the western sector. Now the Chinese had their quitted backs to the Han.

Red Resistance Weakens

Red resistance was crumbling. In some sectors there was no opposition.

U. S. 25th division tanks shielded Seoul at noon Thursday. Howitzers of the veteran American third division rolled into position after night-fall and sent shells screaming over the Han into Chinese positions. The third division was identified on the 25th division's right flank, southeast of Seoul.

A field dispatch reporting the artillery barrage was heavily censored.

A staff officer said it appeared likely the Reds would withdraw to the north bank of the winding Han. The river began to thaw Wednesday but froze over again tonight. Snow fell on the western front.

Without firing a shot, the Puerto Ricans took 1,800-foot Manggyong mountain overlooking Seoul. It is the highest peak before the city. So quickly had the Chinese fled their positions the Puerto Ricans found rice still warm in bowls.

The general advance followed in the wake of tiger-faced tanks of the U. S. 25th division. The armored column—task force Dolvin—plunged over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul, shelled the city and then withdrew for the night.

Task Force Advances

Other tank-led forces rammed ahead more than a mile to move the Allied line to within 5½ miles of Seoul. One of the armored columns, south-southeast of Seoul, was identified as from the U. S. third division. This was task force Fisher.

Red resistance was stiffed on the central and east-central fronts. However, gains in those sectors ranged up to eight miles. Warships hammered both coasts. Warplanes lashed at Red supply lines in the north and on the East Coast.

Faces of ferocious tigers had been painted on the blunt noses of the tanks in task force Dolvin to frighten the superstitious Chinese Red peasant soldiers.

The Stover high and grade school was partially destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning at a loss estimated at $75,000. The picture at the left is the old section of the building built in 1904, shown crumbling-in. Fire has already spread through the second floor and into the school tower, the top part of the structure being of frame. The roof of the building had just fallen in when the picture was made. On the right is a side view of the old structure, a mass of flames, and the rear portion of the building connecting with the new section is burning out. Volunteer fire fighters with the Stover fire department and the fire department from Versailles succeeded in saving the new school building to the left. E. E. Porter, superintendent of schools,

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(P)—To Private G. I. Joe, Foxhole 12, Hill 364, South Korea:

Dear Joe: I told you I'd let you know how things are doing back in your old Uncle Sugar Able — The U. S. A.

Well, kid, it's still the gold-plated foxhole of the western world. If they don't have it here, it ain't worth having.

They got everything here in your old supply base except tanks and peace of mind.

It's a boom country, Joe, but everybody seems to be mad about something. The people are mad about the international situation. No one is sure who's to blame — Washington, the United Nations or Arthur Godfrey.

And Washington is making the people. They are making money faster than Washington can take it away. There's a new tax coming up on everything except homemade incense.

Prices are higher than the hill you're on, Joe. They call a nickel "The Truman Dollar" now. And in New York you have to drop two of them in a phone box to call the wrong number.

You spend as much for an hour in a barber chair now as it used to take for a week-end vacation at the beach. The $1.50 haircut is getting fashionable if not popular and the 75 cent shave is responsible for a lot of five o'clock shadow.

Steak is getting more and more like heaven. People still yearn for it — but it's out of the average man's reach.

Folks are starting going to the movies again. What with television in the home, that's the only place they can get away from Milton Berle.

Snow in Florida.

It's hard to tell just what to believe in. Jack Benny still says he is only 39 years old and it has been snowing in Florida. And out in Nevada whenever a store window topples in nobody is sure whether a stranger hit the jackpot in the corner saloon — or the government just dropped another atom bomb.

So many atom bombs have been blowing up lately that people wonder whether the government is getting fumble-fingered — or just hoping the Chinese are listening.

The white girl cooks over here are beautiful as ever. But, after Korea, it does seem funny to see women without bundles on.

There is quite a war scare going on, and the only really safe place left in America is a seat on the local draft board. The teen-ager is no longer the problem of civilization but "the hope of tomorrow." And the new theme song of the 18-year-olds is: "Make Me a Child Again... Not Just For Tonight, but For the Next Ten Years."

The people are thinking more often of you now, Joe, as you comb the far Korean ravines with your burp gun, seeking the hidden enemy. You aren't forgotten, boy. You're the new number one hero of the kids who used to think that only Hopalong Cassidy could catch the villain.

You've had a lonely, uphill walk, and I hope it is about over. There's so much to come back to here, Joe. I flew across America the other day and it was like walking through a long and lovely cathedral, with candles at the end. The candles stood for the heart I was returning to.

As the wonderful American earth and waters unrolled beneath the plane — the wide fields, the deep rivers, the high hills of home — I made a silent wish upon an evening star. It was that you could come back soon, too, and let others take their turn in the Korean icebox — if stay we do.

By Jim Becker
(For Hal Boyle)
WESTERN FRONT, Korea—(P)—Watching the Korean war was like earning a living; I had to start something.

Sometime for me was a few weeks ago. Here are some impressions the war has made on this newcomer—impressions that it might have made on you if you were seeing it for the first time.

The legendary sense of humor is alive in the nondescript country, probably the only spot in the world where it can be muddy and dusty at the same time.

A frontline infantryman was stalled behind a mudbank.

A lieutenant was stalled in the next mudpuddle.

"The next time we have visitors I want you to shave, Sergeant," grinned the lieutenant. The sergeant fingered the black stubble that nearly hid his face. "You are supposed to set me an example, Lieutenant," he drawled at the officer whose beard was even blacker.

Just sleeping, eating, keeping clean—functions which you take for granted—are ordeals in the combat soldier. He sleeps in a hole in the ground—it's easier to dig now that the ground is thawing out "but sure is muddy,"—he eats his canned rations any way he can—"some jerk left the can opener out of every C ration that our company got today and we had to open the cans with bayonets" — and almost never washes—"it's hardly worth the trouble heating the water if you can find any."

If there is a house left in Korea you won't find it around here.

The incredible destruction of war is everywhere as opposing armies struggle over the same ground for the third time.

Out of Battle Area

Almost all civilians have left the battle area. The few remaining mill aimlessly through rubble street. They are not interested in cleaning up the mess. Owners of small business have disappeared, leaving their investment in machinery and equipment behind. Fires and bombs and shells have struck again and again and you can see the blackened ruins of equipment through gaping holes in the walls of tiny shops.

In one shop there is a mangled printing press that has been burned and returned into uselessness. Type is scattered over the floor amid piles of filthy plaster. You can imagine the mood of utter despair and hopelessness of the owner if he returns and sees the ruins of his livelihood.

Clean-cut young American men are dying here daily. Other young Americans have learned to accept the fact and go on about their business—which is killing Chinese.

"Sometimes you don't even get a chance to learn the names of the new guys before they get it," said a GI.

If it were not for the almost ceaseless thunder of Allied artillery, a casual visitor to a frontline headquarters might never guess that there was a war on. Trucks and men sit in the open, secure in the knowledge that no enemy plants will come. Many trucks and jeeps sport gaily colored panels to identify them to friendly planes.

Fighting GIs gather around a fire only a few thousand yards from the front. "It must be tough on the Chinese," said one soldier squatting beside a roaring blaze. "They cannot light fires to get warm. They just have to sit and take it. If those planes or those artillery spotters saw a wisp of smoke they would have a nice target."

The oft-told tale of army waste and inefficiency may be true to some extent in rear echelons but that is not true here. The vehicles knocked out for these rice fields have been stripped of every workable part. Nothing is wasted. Every scrap of the uninspiring food is scraped out of the can or mess kit. Gas and oil are guarded by miserly motor pool attendants. Socks and woolen underwear are issued as if each contained a hundred dollar bill. Vehicles are nursed like an only child.

Although death and wounds are the star boarders, these men seldom talk about them. A good way to end a thriving conversation is to discuss the fighting. The front line soldier busily and efficiently accomplishes his daily tasks but he does not want to talk about it when his day's work is finished.

When you get home from a hard day at the office you probably like to change the subject too.

Meeting Of Otterville Garden Club

The Otterville Garden club held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Brodersen, with Mrs. Harold Stahl, Mrs. R. J. Murray, Mrs. Harry Brodersen and Mrs. Lewis Zumsteg as assisting hostesses.

A dessert luncheon was served to 26 members and one visitor, Mrs. Allie Thomas, of Syracuse.

Mrs. W. L. Layne, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Lewis Leaton led in prayer.

Mrs. C. R. Shy was welcomed into the club as a new member.

The program chairman presented Mrs. J. E. Golladay, who discussed "Gardening in January."

A short talk on "Ivies for Every Room" was given by Mrs. J. H. Parsons.

A round table discussion followed and roll call was "My Most Successful Ivy."

Exhibits of ivies were judged by the committee. The meeting concluded with an exchange of ivies.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. B. Mayfield.

Marriage Of Tipton Couple

The marriage of Miss Lola Newkirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Newkirk, and Mr. Monte J. Brant, son of Mayor and Mrs. J. J. Brant, took place at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning, February 3, 1951, at St. Andrew's church. The double ring ceremony was read by the Reverend John B. DeAngelis.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, accented with a lace yoke and a tunic over the skirt edged with lace. The long satin sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and the skirt lengthened into an aisle-wide train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a band of white satin and she carried a large bouquet of red roses.

Miss Jean Briscoe, said of honor, wore a turquoise taffeta gown with matching halo. Her bouquet was of deep pink carnations.

Mrs. J. W. Proctor and Mrs. Arnold Dueber, the bridesmaids, wore American Beauty taffeta gowns with matching halos. Their bouquets were of light pink carnations.

David Brant, brother of the bridegroom acted as best man and Kenneth Kline and Kenneth Brant, cousins of the bridegroom were groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a blue crepe dress with a corsage of white mums.

The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe dress with a corsage of pink carnations.

Ushers were Hilary Dick, Charles Brant, Bill Bookout, J. W. Proctor, Aubrey Bixler and Arnold Dueber.

At noon a dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dueber to the wedding party, the immediate family and friends.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and wreathed with greenery and pink carnations.

Those serving at the reception were Miss Betty Proctor, Miss Betty Brant and Miss Betty Sieber.

The J. W. Proctor had charge of the guest register.

The bride was a member of the senior class at the Tipton high school.

The bridegroom graduated from the Tipton high school in 1944. He served with the navy during the World War II and afterward attended Missouri university for two years.

He recently sold his cleaning and pressing business here to Frank Lang.

The couple left Monday morning for Chicago. Upon their return they will reside in Kansas City, where the bridegroom will be stationed with the naval recruiting office.

Buffet Supper Saturday Night

Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Marshall of Marshall Junction entertained at their new home Saturday evening with a buffet supper and bridge party.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Forre Belwood, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wacker, Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. John Ezell, Jr., and Mrs. Westley Tooker, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sellers, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roger Clark and Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Jr.

Awards for high score went to Mr. Forre Belwood, Jr., and Mrs. C. M. Sellers, Jr., and for low to Mrs. James Marshall and Roger Clark.

Party For Steven White

Steven White, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ira White, was the guest of honor at a party given in his home, 816 Crescent Drive, on his fourth birthday anniversary February 5. The hostesses were Mrs. White and Steven's grandmother Mrs. J. P. Hardgrove.

Movies were taken of the children during the afternoon. Refreshments of cake and ice cream molded into little, colored locomotives were served.

Guests were Jack Lewis, Paul Mowry, Jr., John Arnest, Jim Arnest, Arthur Hoffman, Kenneth Schilb, Jr., Mrs. Ollie Lewis, Mrs. Paul Mowry, Mrs. Charles Arnest and Mrs. Phillip Hoffman.

Steven received many nice birthday gifts.

Church News

The Daisy Belle Circle of the Epworth Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Gramlich, 1109 East Broadway with Mrs. Rose Steele as co-hostess Wednesday in an all-day meeting.

A covered-dish luncheon was served at the noon hour.

There were 14 members present and special guests were Mrs. Portia Finley, of Fresno, Calif., and the Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Purnell, 1601 East Tenth street with Miss Jessie Smith as assisting hostess.

The T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church held its February meeting Thursday evening, Feb. 1 at 6:30 o'clock in the church basement, at which time a contributive supper was served with husbands and families of the members as special guests.

Tables were decorated in keeping with Valentine Day and two films were shown, "The Christian Parade" and "Alaska Silver Stream."

Mrs. George Curran, president, introduced the devotional speaker Leonard Hall.

The following program was given, "Valentine Greetings," Mildred Ann Reed; vocal duet, Mrs. William Burton and Mrs. Jim Reed; two readings by Mrs. Ernest Melton; vocal duet, Mrs. Everett Keele and William Morgan.

Community singing and games followed.

Miss Myrtle Lewis entertained the children in the nursery with a special party.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Charles Hofheins, Mrs. Frank Gamber, Mrs. Winston Ream, Mrs. Aubrey Case and Mrs. Oria Hammond.

There were 63 present.

Mrs. Ray Logan is teacher of the class. Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Croxton were special guests.

Education Class to Meet

The Jefferson Parent Education class will meet Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the school.

WE THANK YOU ...

To our many gas customers in Sedalia we offer our sincere thanks for the gratifying response to our appeal to cut down on gas consumption which we made this morning following the break late last night in the large gas main west of Sedalia.

Within minutes of our radio and telephone appeal to the people of Sedalia to cut thermostats back to 65 degrees, the load demand dropped, and allowed us to serve all customers on this reduced basis during the emergency.

This splendid cooperation on the part of our customers supporting the continuous all night and morning efforts of our Missouri Public Service employees and the Cities Service Gas Company employees made it possible to restore the gas service to normal by noon today.

Again, thanks for your splendid cooperation.

Hoover Acts As an Adviser

Prospects Made Brighter to Send Wheat to India

By Oliver W. DeWolf

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Prospects looked brighter today for early congressional action to provide India with 2,000,000 tons of U. S. wheat to combat a famine.

This attitude, expressed by several lawmakers, is in sharp contrast to that of two weeks ago. Several factors are evidently responsible.

First was the support announced yesterday by former president Herbert Hoover.

Hoover conferred with President Truman on the problem and then told reporters he would act as an adviser to the administration in helping to organize the transportation and food resources to supply India's needs.

"The United States has never in its history failed to be helpful to a famine-stricken people," Hoover said.

Secondly, there has been a noticeable let-down in congressional criticism of India now that the United Nations has branded Red China as an aggressor in Korea. India vigorously opposed the aggressor resolution sponsored by the United States on grounds it might lead to all-out war, and her attitude stirred up considerable resentment among lawmakers.

A third factor has been an increase in activity on the part of the administration to help the Indians. Some senators expect Mr. Truman to issue a public statement, possibly Monday, urging that the United States furnish the wheat. He plans to meet tomorrow with top congressional foreign policy leaders to discuss the matter.

In promising to help, Hoover told newsmen he was not relinquishing his privilege of criticizing administration foreign policy.

Seoul's Battered Ruins Are Shelled Today by Tanks of Americans with the armored column, said Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed:

"If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Abandoned January 4

It was the nearest ground approach to Seoul by the Allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled. The city is regarded as of no military significance now.

Task force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Reds. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of the U. S., British, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

They hammered the enemy at a dozen places along a 75-mile front stretching inland from the Yellow sea, in the west, to Changpyong in the east-central sector.

On the left flank of task force Dolvin, and west of the main road to Seoul, Puerto Rican infantrymen advanced 2½ miles without opposition. They occupied three important hills littered with abandoned Chinese equipment.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han. The Chinese had taken tremendous losses. The Eighth army estimated more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front. It brought more than 57,000 total enemy casualties since the Allied "limited" offensive began Jan. 25.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by minefields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug up by Allied engineers Wednesday.

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

The two other tank columns in the west gained up to two miles before noon Thursday. These task forces also are named after their commanders, Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., and Capt. Kenneth Fisher of Johnstown, Pa.

Task force Bartlett was on the left of Dolvin's armored column, task force Fisher on the right. And, to the right of Fisher, the Turks wrested a 400-foot hill from the Reds dug in about 10 miles south-southeast of Seoul.

The Reds had attacked American units in that sector during the night. The assault was hurled back with heavy Red losses.

Elements of one American division killed between 300 and 400 Reds on high ground 11 miles northeast of Ichon and moved up. This further tightened the pinch on the Red perimeter south of Seoul.

which said he had been "gravely concerned about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation."

"It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency."

Tribute Is Paid

He paid tribute to "the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances" and to "the strikers who have returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tie up."

However, Mr. Truman added, "there are still some ill-advised or irresponsible men who are disregarding the emergency needs of their country."

Then, under questioning, Mr. Truman referred to the background for the "sick call" walkout of switchmen. He said that as you know an agreement was signed.

He said the management didn't run out on the agreement. Then referring to those who did, he said:

"They acted like a bunch of Russians. They went back on their signatures."

This presumably was a reference to the refusal of the railroad unions to approve an agreement that their leaders initiated at the White House last December. The agreement was a proposed settlement of their long dispute with the carriers over wages and working conditions.

Following is the text of Mr. Truman's statement on the railroad strikers:

"I have been gravely concerned about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation. It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency."

"On the other hand, I have been proud of the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances. Consideration is also due the strikers who returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tie up."

"It is essential that precautions be taken against recurrences of such threats to our national security."

"Accordingly, I have directed the secretary of the army to take appropriate action immediately."

Personals

Mrs. I. C. Evans, route 3, Sedalia, returned to her home Wednesday night from St. Louis where Mr. Evans is a patient at the Missouri Pacific hospital. He has been there for ten days and is improving. He will be at the hospital for two more weeks.

Mrs. John L. Sullivan, 416 East Seventh street, underwent a goiter operation at the Bothwell hospital Tuesday. Her son John L. Sullivan, Manhattan, Kas., was here as were three daughters, Mrs. Robert E. Allen, Perry, Mo., Mrs. Henry Weidhold and children Mary Sue and John Philip of Chicago and Miss Dorothy Sullivan of Kansas City. Another son James Sullivan visited with his mother Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. Connor and her sister Miss Mayme Shipley, 418 East Seventh street, joined their son and nephew, respectively, Col. J. E. Connor and Mrs. Connor of Las Vegas, N. M., on the Missouri Pacific train this morning and accompanied them to St. Louis. Col. Connor is enroute to Washington, D. C., on business. His wife will go to Iowa to visit relatives during his absence. Mrs. Connor and Miss Shipley will remain in St. Louis several days to visit Mrs. B. E. Staples, a former Sedalian.

Halt Blocking Move by GOP Legislators

Democrats Still Press For Larger Building Fund

By George Sitterly

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Minority Republicans counted noses today and figured they had the power to renew their battle against enlarging the new state office building.

But the Democrats pulled some majority members from the corridors and offices to put down the rebellion on a close 61 to 55 vote.

A lot of members had drifted away on this last day of the legislative work week. Even Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion county was absent from the chamber when the ruckus started. But Speaker Pro Tem John L. Sando (D) of Dunklin county ruled against the parliamentary procedure of the Republicans.

The Democrats found barely enough votes to back him up. Yesterday the political wrangling got things into such a swivel that a key $4,000,000 emergency appropriation bill was killed.

Majority Democrats immediately laid plans to bring the measure up for reconsideration early next week and ram it through, whether the Republicans like it or not.

Minority ire was aroused over a $1,775,000 item to put a five-story cap on the new state office building now under construction as a $3,000,000, eight-story affair. "The Republicans found out the contract calls for the five stories for a little more than $800,000."

Why then, they asked, was the appropriation nearly 1,000,000 more than that? Were some shenanigans going on, with the people's money likely to wind up in the wrong pockets?

One Republican, Rep. Richard M. Webster of Jasper county, charged that if there was a scheme he blamed it on Gov. Forrest Smith, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and attorney general J. E. Taylor. All Democrats, they are members of the board of public buildings. The board signed the contract with the McDonald Construction company of St. Louis.

Denial by Governor
Told of Webster's charges the governor denied there'd been any skullduggery.

He itemized the need for the added money, listing such things as venetian blinds, additional elevators, a penthouse auditorium, floor tiling and the like. One item was $7,500 for a decorative sculptured limestone bear.

If Webster really wanted to find out about the appropriation, the governor asked, why didn't he come down and look at the list?

The governor also wants an additional $2,200,000 — in another pending appropriation bill — to build a wing on the new building.

Republicans have indicated they will attack that one tooth and toenail. They drove it to the shelf in one noisy session last week.

Horses Burn to Death in Barn
WESTON, Mo., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Five jumping horses valued by the owner Cloud L. Cray, Sr., of Atchison, Kas., at $20,000 were destroyed in a fire which swept a barn at the McCormick Distillery southeast of here early today.

Total loss, including the stables, was placed at $25,000.

Japan Free To Lay-Out Own Destiny

Dulles Group Hopes Nippons Will Stay On Democratic Path

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 8—(AP)—Informed sources today said the Dulles mission is working on a treaty plan leaving Japan virtually free to carve her own future, hoping thereby to keep a Hitler from arising in the Orient.

They said the U. S. position is that specific restrictions would arouse Japanese resentment. They point to the way the Versailles treaty helped to bring Hitler to power in Germany after World War I.

No Binding Action

Ambassador John Foster Dulles himself said in an interview that peace terms as now foreseen by the United States will not specifically bind Japan to perpetuate occupation reforms. The interview was given Monday and some details were released Wednesday.

In theory, the Japanese could discard all the occupation reforms and restore purged wartime leaders to power. The American hope, of course, is that Japan will stick to the road of democracy.

These reforms include such sweeping measures as distribution of land to former tenants, the breakup of the great industrial monopolies that once armed Japan for conquest, and the order that banned wartime industrial and political leaders from public office.

Powerful individuals have been working hard to get the purge junked.

Japan May Junk Reforms

Sources close to the mission said that under the U. S. plan, if Japan wiped out all the reforms none of the 45 countries expected to sign the treaty would be able to do anything except to lodge formal protests.

Such considerations are expected to bring objections from Britain and some of Japan's neighbors, some observers believe.

The informants said, however, that the opinion of most interested powers generally was in agreement. The most dissent, they added, came on the subject of reparations and future economic terms.

The informants said the United States believe the Japanese should not be required to pay further reparations.

Oilmen Oppose Proposed Hike

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8—(AP)—The Missouri Petroleum Association has expressed an opposition to the Missouri General Assembly bills which propose to increase taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel.

The group resolved that the proposed taxes "were wholly unfair" to the oil industry and imposed an "unjust burden." The bills would increase the gasoline road tax by two cents a gallon and diesel fuel by eight cents a gallon.

The association convention, attended by approximately 300 oilmen, also adopted resolutions opposing what it termed the "unfair tax advantage" of co-operatives and asking Congress to "plug loopholes in the tax structure and to put all business on the same tax basis."

The association today reelected these directors: For three year terms—W. P. Stevenson of Kahoka, northeast Missouri; Joe E. Huber of Perryville, southeast Missouri; Melvin Hall of Noel, southwest Missouri and John Rupp of Chillicothe, northwest Missouri; one year terms—W. H. Ayers of Canton, H. E. Milton of St. Louis and Ed Clear of Kansas City.

MIAMI, Okla., Feb. 8—(AP)—It happened at a local cafe. A newspaper reader remarked how well "we're doing, whipping those Chinese."

U. S. Demands Russia Return 672 Vessels

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The United States has formally demanded that Russia immediately return 672 lend-lease naval and merchant ships sent to her aid in World War II.

The State department disclosed a note demanding this was handed to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin at today's staid lend-lease talks.

At the same time, the State department confirmed it is asking the Soviet Union to pay $800,000,000 (M) to settle up Russia's overdue lend-lease account of $10,800,000,000. Russia reportedly has countered with a "final offer" of $240,000,000.

Russian representatives have refused to discuss return of the 672 ships, officials said. The Soviets insist Russia wants to buy

200 Students Absent In Chillicothe School From Strange Malady

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Feb. 8—(AP)—Most of the pupils who became ill of a mysterious malady at Central grade school last week still were absent from classes on Wednesday.

At the peak of the epidemic last Friday more than 200 of the 460 pupils at the school were ill. Physicians said the illnesses were caused either by a food poisoning or an intestinal virus. Some of them ran temperatures as high as 105 degrees.

The vessels, which include 87 merchant ships.

But the U. S. government flatly refuses to sell them to Moscow unless the Russians settle up their overall lend-lease account.

WOMEN 38 to 52 YRS. OLD

Do These "Middle-Age" Symptoms Betray Your Age?

So many women between the ages of 38 and 52 have a good reason to hate "change of life"—the time when fertility ebbs away—when embarrassing symptoms of this nature may often betray your age. If this functional "middle-age" period makes you suffer from hot flushes or makes you feel so weak, nervous, restless—try Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS to relieve such symptoms. Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS are a uterine sedative. They work through a woman's sympathetic nervous system. Women by the thousands have reported remarkable benefits. Taken regularly, Pinkham's TABLETS help build up resistance against such distress. Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS also help build up red blood to give more strength and energy to women who suffer from simple anemia. Truly the woman's friend! Worth trying! Any drugstore.

Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS

Today You Can Start to RELIEVE THE CAUSE of YOUR SICKNESS

Aches, Pains, Gas, Heartburn, Indigestion, due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

Why be a burden to yourself, your family, your friends, because of deficiency distresses that are stealing your energy, robbing you of vitality, making you miserable. Thousands of folks now know that today's great HADACOL provides not mere symptomatic relief, but real relief for the very cause of distress due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. Ray C. Watson, 4428 Cassie Road, Midland, Michigan: "Well, here's my thought for HADACOL. It's really wonderful. Before I started to take HADACOL, I was always tired. I ached all the time. I'm an operator at a chemical company and my job requires a lot of climbing stairs. At the end of my shift, I was all in, ready to drop. But since I've taken HADACOL, I feel fine. I've taken 5 bottles of HADACOL. So I really can thank HADACOL and will continue to take it as I need it."

HADACOL supplies deficient systems with more than the average daily requirement of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin plus helpful quantities of Phosphorus and Calcium. HADACOL builds up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to send these precious Vitamins and Minerals coursing throughout your body to every body organ. Many doctors recommend HADACOL. Only HADACOL gives you that Wonderful Hadacol Feeling. Trial size, $1.25; large family or hospital size, $3.50. © 1951, The LeBlanc Corporation

Coach Presented New Cadillac

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Feb. 8.—(P)—Coach Bud Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma's 1950 championship football team is driving a new $4,000 Cadillac today, the gift of grid fans over the state.

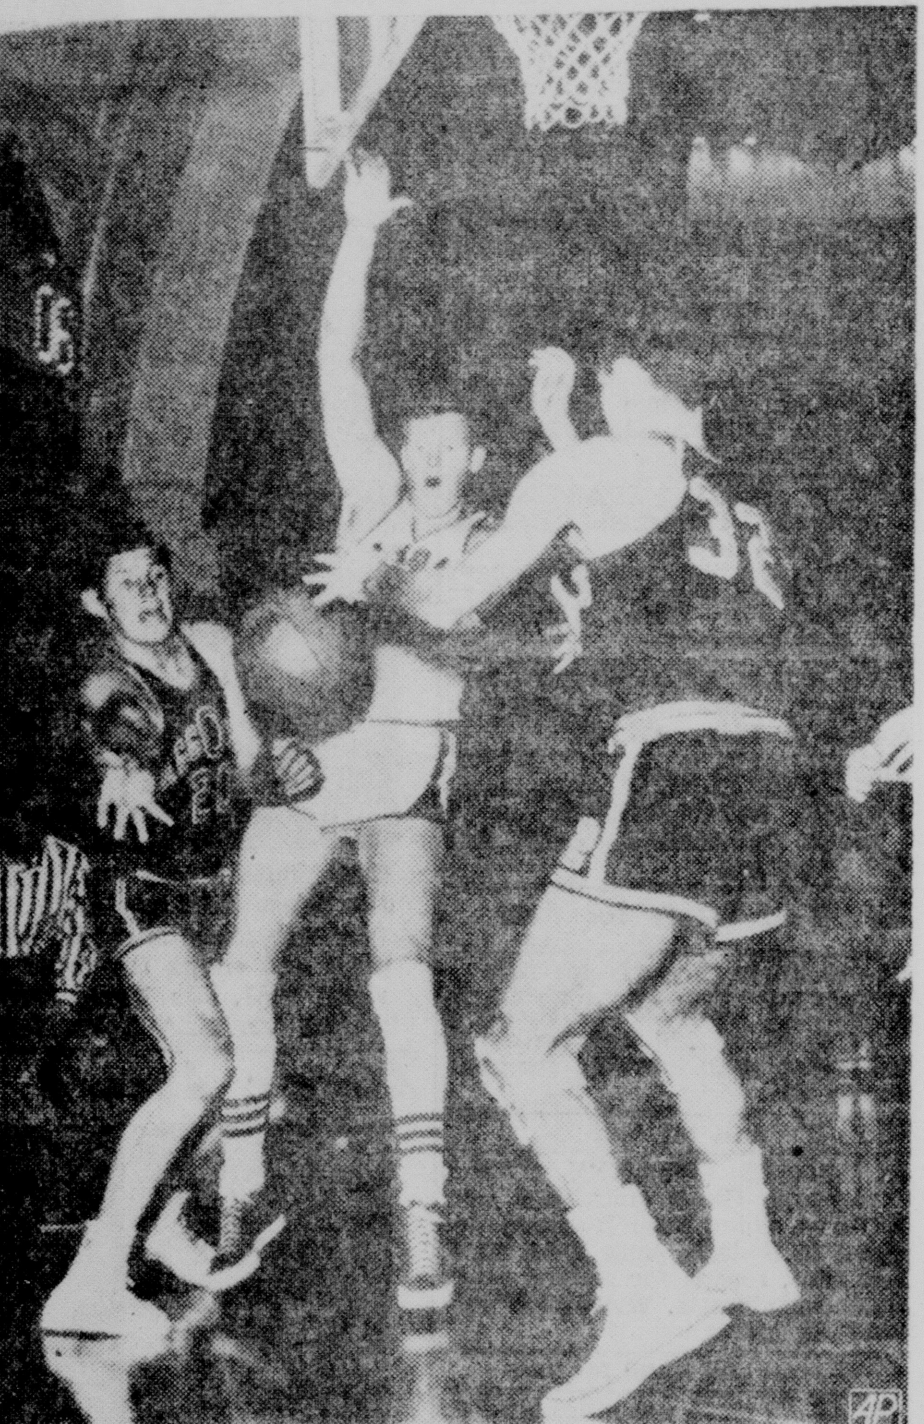

The red and gray auto was presented Wilkinson here last night at the annual banquet of the Muskogee Quarterback club. Money for the car was raised by $1 contributions from Oklahoma followers.

Oklahoma's two other major college football coaches weren't left out either—at least not very far out.

J. B. (Ears) Whitworth, coach of Oklahoma A. & M.'s unfortunate grid team, got a set of ear muffs. Tulsa's coach Buddy Brothers came home with a glass bowl.

Get Around Lovellette

When Clyde Lovellette, big 6-foot 9-inch University of Kansas center, sewed up Pete Darcey of Oklahoma A. & M. under the Aggie basket, Darcey faked at the basket to lure Lovellette into a jump, then passed to teammate Keith Smith (32) who was in the open. The Aggies, the nation's No. 2 basketball team in current rankings, defeated the Kansas 46-41 in the game at Lawrence, Kas. (Associated Press Photo)

Louis Awarded Fight Decision

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8.—(P)—Joe Louis pounded out a unanimous ten-round decision over Omelio Agramonte of Cuba last night to clear another roadblock on the comeback trail toward another heavy-weight championship fight.

The Brown Bomber, favored to win in four rounds or less, failed to catch the dancing Cuban with a knockout blow, but Agramonte, bleeding from the mouth and left eye, was hanging on desperately as the bell ended the tenth round.

DiMaggio Gets Another Large Yank Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—(P)—The N. Y. Yankees Wednesday received their best piece of news since their world series sweep of the Philadelphia Phils last October in the receipt of the signed contract of Joe DiMaggio, who will play this season for another $100,000.

As per custom, no salary figures were announced but general manager George Weiss said that the star centerfielder will earn as much as he made in each of the 1949 and 1950 seasons when his salary was a reported $100,000.

DiMaggio's acceptance of terms was interpreted by Weiss as a good sign in more ways than one. He hoped that Joe's action would spur other Yankee regulars, who up to now have shown a reluctance to come into the fold.

The new pact continues DiMaggio as one of the two highest paid players in the history of the game. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is the only other player reportedly earning a salary of six figures. The 36-year-old DiMags current contract is for one year only and is a straight salary without any bonus clauses.

Babe Ruth's largest one-year salary was $80,000. However, the Babe's take-home pay was much higher than DiMaggio's. Ralph Kiner's $65,000 contract with Pittsburgh and Stan Musial's $60,000 pact with the St. Louis Cardinals last year are the top figures in the National league.

DiMaggio, reached at his San Francisco home by telephone, said he was "very happy" over his new contract and added that he was in "wonderful" shape.

"The club must have been satisfied with my work last year to send me the same kind of contract," Joe said. "If they are happy so am I. I have no idea how much longer I will play. I intend to play baseball as long as my body holds out. I'll play with the Yankees as long as Casey Stengel (manager) wants me to."

The Yankee Clipper, in his 13th active season with the Yankees last year, finished with a .301 batting average after getting off to a horrible start. In the final two months of the season, Joe hit at a .373 clip to bring his batting average over .300 for the 11th time in 12 seasons. He was among the leaders in home runs with 32 and runs batted in with 122. He collected 33 doubles, 10 triples and scored 114 runs.

His opponents, among them Fred Saigh of New York Cards, and Del Webb of New York Yankees, have vigorously fought his every move. George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, has been mentioned as among the men most likely to succeed Chandler, if the Kentuckian again loses out.

Frick also has been named, too, but he said he did not want the job.

Walter Mulhry, secretary of baseball, announced the call for Chandler.

He merely said it had been made by the commissioner, at the request of the presidents of the two major leagues, and that the purpose was "to name a commissioner of baseball and act on any other business that might come before it."

Chandler, who was in New York, declined to amplify the announcement made here.

"Just let the statement stand for itself," he told a newsman.

Should the club owners decide at the March meeting to name another man to the job it was considered there would be two courses open. Either Chandler could resign voluntarily or the club owners could buy up his contract for the remainder of his term.

Whether Chandler would agree to the latter course without a fight was not known.

Hubbard Girls Beat Western Baptist 33-17

The Hubbard Tigarettes ran their victory string to four straight by swamping the Western Baptist girls Wednesday night at basketball by a score of 33 to 17.

Led by Barbara Parks with 12 points and Susie Allen with 11 the Hubbard girls led throughout the game. The guards, led by Joan Nelson, stopped the Western girls cold by blocking most of their shots and intercepting most of their passes.

The Tigarettes will play their next game on the Hubbard gym Friday night at the Hubbard gym when both the boys and girls will meet the Chillicothe high school. The first game will start at 7 o'clock.

Eckert Flips Ron Etchison; Midgets Star

Experience and the "know how" was the winning factor in Ray Eckert, California, Mo., beating Ronnie Etchison, St. Joseph, in the main event of the American legion wrestling card Wednesday night. The midgets team-tag semi-final event, however, stole the show and the fans went wild over their actions in the ring. Marshall Esteppe drop-kicked himself to a win over Paul Orth, Dallas, Tex., in the curtain-raiser.

Etchison won the first fall over Eckert using a back-to-back arm lock to pin Ray's shoulders to the mat. It took 12 minutes and 33 seconds for the fall. Eckert came back in the second fall and after nine minutes and 53 seconds beat Etchison with a rolling strangle hold.

In the final fall Etchison had the match practically won when he started bounding off the ropes, and in one last desperate effort to knock Eckert down, he came bounding through the air and was caught with a knee lift which finished him. Eckert won in seven minutes and 35 seconds.

Little Beaver and Tiny Roe were the winners of the midget event. Tiny Roe beat Pancho "The Bull" for the first fall after 13 minutes and 37 seconds of action. A reverse Boston crab was used by Tiny to win. The second fall ended in four minutes and 47 seconds when Irish Jack whipped Tiny Roe to the mat with body slams.

A fascinating airplane spin was used by Little Beaver on Irish Jack and a slam to the floor ended the third fall in seven minutes.

Esteppe and Orth fought and battled it out in the opening event for 16 minutes and 27 seconds before Marshall finally succeeded in using his famous knee lifts and flying drop kicks to end Orth's appearance in the opening event.

Wrestling matches will be held on Saturday nights starting February 17 due to a change in drill schedule of the 35th Division National Guard Units in Sedalia. The Guard will start drilling on Wednesday nights and Sunday afternoons and the only open date at the Armory will be Saturday.

'Gabby' Was a Hard Loser

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—(P)—Losing always went hard with Gabby Street, the veteran baseball figure who died Tuesday at Joplin, Mo. One of his favorite stories about himself was on how he kicked his coach and roommate, Buzzy Wares, out of bed one night because of a losing streak.

Manager of the St. Louis Cardinals at the time, Street walked the floor and worried over the plight of the ball club. Sleeping nearby and snoring was Wares, oblivious of Street's mental anguish.

Street kicked Wares until he had him out of bed and then asked with indignation: "Buzzy, how can you sleep so sound and snore so loud, with conditions the way they are?"

Wilks Will Quit Before Signing A $1 Contract

HOUSTON, Feb. 8.—(P)—Pitcher Ted Wilks last night said he will quit baseball before signing a conditional contract such as offered him by President Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Wilks has turned down a $1 contract that also provides he will receive 75 per cent of his 1950 salary if he remains with the squad after Florida spring training. Wilks received $17,500 last year.

"I'll quit baseball before I sign a contract like that," Wilks said, "but if Saigh does send that $1 contract back here and eliminates that 25 per cent cut clause I might sign it."

Wilks underwent an arm operation last year. Last night he said the arm is in very good shape and "I just know I am headed for a year like 1949 when I relieved in 59 games."

Chief Finds Accident was Authentic
DUESSELDORF, Germany—(AP)—Two policemen from Hilden near here fell off their motor cycle. In hospital they explained they had been drying at about 20-miles an hour when a bicyclist suddenly stopped in front of them and caused the accident. The police chief didn't believe their story and asked two other policemen to demonstrate that the accident was avoidable. They are in the same hospital now, with the same sort of injury.

Where And How Death Came to New Jersey Commuters

Here is a diagrammed aerial view of the scene of Tuesday night's tragic train wreck near Woodbridge, N. J. The train left the rails while crossing a temporary wooden overpass. The wreck brought death to at least 81 persons and injuries to nearly 500. (A P Wirephoto)

Kindness Results In Loss Of Still For Moonshiner

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Feb. 8.—(P)—Logan Cottingham saw two figures shivering outside in the cold and invited them into the barn to get warm—then noticed his mistake.

The men were federal alcohol tax agents W. F. Ellis and George Gaither of Tulsa. They destroyed a still and 250 gallons of mash in barrels.

Cottingham and F. M. Bean were arrested on charges of making moonshine and held for failure to produce $500 bond each.

EASTVILLE, Va., Feb. 8.—(P)—A Marine transport plane crashed in a rain and windstorm

Arabs Accuse Jews Of 9-Person Killing

CAIRO, Feb. 8.—(P)—The Arab news agency said last night nine persons were killed when Jews blew up the house of the mayor of the Arab village of Sharafat near the truce line south of Jerusalem. Eight persons were injured and one is missing, the agency added.

(In Tel Aviv the newspaper Maariv quoted Arab sources as saying Jordan had protested to the United Nations over the raid, which occurred Tuesday night.

Irate Women Storm House Of Commons

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(P)—A delegation of British housewives, mad as hornets about the meat shortage, pulled up in a bus before the House of Commons Wednesday morning spoiling for battle.

The group — from suburban Teddington—handed to E. H. Keeling, Conservative member of Parliament, a petition demanding "more able" government handling of food problems. The women displayed a banner reading: "Mary had a little lamb. Her sister came to grief—She lived in 1951. And only got corned beef."

The newspaper said the raid was apparently in retaliation for border incidents near divided Jerusalem in which two Jews were reported killed).

Jolson's Widow Plans Monument To Singer

New Manager For Firestone

Harold Hobson, manager of the Sedalia Firestone store for the past two years, has been transferred effective today to the management of the Kansas City, Kas., store.

He and his family who have resided at 804½ West Third street left Wednesday evening for that place.

Succeeding Mr. Hobson here as manager of the local store will be Cecil Dimp of the Kansas City, Mo., Firestone store.

authorized on request of his widow Erle Galbraith Jolson.

She said that architect Paul R. Williams will design the monument to cost $75,000, and that Hillside Memorial Park will provide an easement for a cascading waterfall and landscaping for another $9,000.

Jolson, who was 65 when he died last October, left much of his money to charity.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires. To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1001-A Grand Ave. Kansas City 6, Mo. A penny postcard will do.

Engineers' Week February 18-24

The week of February 18 to 24 has been designated Engineers' Week in the city.

Week and in keeping with the national and state proclamation, Herb Studer, mayor of Sedalia, has issued a city proclamation honoring the profession in Sedalia, the industrial life of our country.

No Easy Way to Meet Food Cost, Says Expert; It Means More Time in the Kitchen

BETH BAILEY McLEAN: She shops the butcher case "the same way I would window shop for my new spring outfit."

You Can Eat Well for LESS! It isn't easy. But Beth Bailey McLean, famed throughout the nation for her down-to-earth food advice, has some workable ideas for every housewife in this dispatch. Mrs. McLean directs 30 highly-trained women in the Martha Logan Division of Swift and Co. Her job—and theirs—is to teach Americans how to eat better for less money. Gaynor Maddox, NEA food editor who tells her story here, gives the same sort of practical advice in his own food column. You can't afford to miss "Eat Well for Less" by Maddox in the Sedalia Democrat.

By Beth Bailey McLean
As told to Gaynor Maddox
NEA Food and Markets Editor
CHICAGO—(NEA)—Everybody wants an easy answer to rising food prices.

There isn't any. The quicker we get that straight the sooner we may get realistic about the shrinking food dollar.

Let's face it. The practical answer has a touch of austerity. Here it is without any meringue—more production, less spending money, and more time in the kitchen.

I know that from experience, and my gray hair testifies to how many wars I have lived through. Yes, I'll admit more time in the kitchen sounds fantastic today. But despite the rising tide of quick and easy dinners our habits must change in a state of emergency.

If we are going to make the shrinking food dollar do the job of keeping the nation strong, then men and women, both, must give more thought and time to feeding their families.

Let's talk about the men first. Husbands must be educated in current food costs. My father used to say "What's good to eat, a man should have." He meant thick steaks and chops.

But few men today can have those things often. Take them shopping and they will get their eyes opened. Then they'll stop expecting women to serve the same kind of meals for the same budget as before.

I did that with my 26-year-old son. He's a big eater and had no conception of the jump in food costs. But he learned the hard way—at the butcher's counter. Now he says, "Okay, Ma, you win. I'd rather have a big hamburger than a little steak any time."

I think there should be a family conference every night on the next day's meals. Let men realize in advance what can and cannot be done with the food budget.

Let's not fool ourselves. The budgeteer's job of feeding a family adequately is getting tougher day by day. The time has passed when a woman can dash home from the office or a card game and run up a meal just before her husband gets home. Or, at least, not unless she has an elastic budget. Any good meal that can be thrown together in a few minutes is bound to cost a lot more than one which takes planning and careful preparation.

As the food dollar buys less, more time is needed to market. It is possible to keep the nutritional and taste standards up to normal with less money but only by a thorough study of all food values on sale.

I just returned from visiting a modern market in New York where all meats are butchered beforehand, wrapped in cellophane and displayed in an open refrigerated case, marked for weight and price. There were 66 kinds and cuts in that case.

I spent a full half hour shopping that case, the same way I would window shop for my new spring outfit. That's what we all must do—shop the butcher's case to find the kind and cut which will be best for our budget, taste, need of variety and cooking ability.

If you see an unfamiliar cut, that looks good and is reasonable learn how to cook it before you get the stove hot. Don't gamble with your skittish food dollars. Ignorance of modern cooking methods that conserve food values is costly.

Our way of life is changing under the pressure of a world crisis. That means many of our fixed eating habits and inherited food prejudices must do a fade-out if good eating is to survive.

Go find recipes for the more abundant and therefore cheaper food even though you have rarely used them. Learn how to prepare good dishes using the humble lamb shank, the oxtail or veal knuckle. Take a flier in meals planning by using kidneys, heart, tripe and other meat specialties that cost less but carry their full quota of nutrition and potential fine flavor.

Don't worry too much about the men folk. After a few educational trips to the market with you they will lose some of their attitude about what they will and will not eat. Furthermore, many of them do eat these foods at their restaurants at lunch time and seem to like them. Better ask the restaurant how to cook them.

Does this practicality of mine sound uninspired when civilization is being threatened? Well, I can't help getting more and more practical as the news gets worse. You see, I don't excite easily. That's because I was born in Wisconsin and have lived a long time in Chicago. We're rather slow to excite out here, probably because we live nearer to the hog.

Labor Leaders Flare Up Over Manpower Program

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951 By The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Five of the nation's top labor spokesmen, led by Phil Murray of the CIO, had it hot and heavy with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson last week over the government's manpower program.

The ill feeling which flared between them looked like a curtain-raiser for more trouble on the labor front, and raised one of the most difficult problems of any defense or war program.

Purpose of the labor leaders' call on Wilson was to keep the nation's civilian manpower program under the labor department. This has been the subject of a bitter backstage battle for some time, with Wilson and Gen. Lucius Clay wanting to take manpower away from Secretary of Labor Tobin and Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg, and with the latter two threatening to resign if the labor problem is taken out of their hands.

Labor leaders have good reason to fear General Clay and any manpower commission which he organized. They recall that during the recent war and before he went to Germany as military governor, Clay demanded of FDR that there be compulsory allocation of labor under a labor draft.

That was one reason why the five leaders went to see mobilization czar Charles Wilson last week to try to keep civilian manpower under the labor department. They got nowhere. Wilson's attitude during the bitter meeting was "I'm running things—we'll do it my way," though he didn't put it quite so bluntly.

He didn't have to. On the way to the meeting the labor group had read a news story telling of Wilson's and General Clay's plan to set up their own manpower commission under Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming—with Clay, however, as the real boss. Wilson did not deny the story. Nor did he seem concerned when the labor leaders reminded him that he was setting up a board to control labor without consulting labor.

Ample Authority

When reminded that labor was consulted equally with management during World War II, and that labor had a co-chairman on the office of production management, Wilson made it plain that he did not plan to follow this precedent.

"I have authority from the President," he said, "and I am going to use that authority. I haven't as yet asked Arthur Flemming to head up this manpower commission, but I intend to do so. And if he doesn't accept, I may head it up myself."

"Well, we don't like a proposition like that," spoke up CIO President Phil Murray. "We represent the men and women who are engaged in war production work and we think we should at least have an equal voice in the government's manpower policies."

Murray added that if Wilson became manpower chief in addition to his top job as mobilization boss, it would be the same as a man "taking advice from himself."

Note—Other labor leaders attending the meeting were: Dan Tracy, president of the AFL Electrical Workers; Al Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists; George Leighty, chairman of the Railroad Labor Executive association; and James Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer.

Inside the Communists—there was something funny about the way Farrar, Straus & Co. suddenly junked Hede Massing's new book on life inside the Communist party. She's the ex-wife of Gerhart Eisler, and the book won't do Stalin any good . . . the manuscript was immediately snapped up by Duell, Sloan and Pearce . . . Communist party membership has taken a terrific beating in Europe in the wake of the Marshall plan, the tide of toys, the friendship train and other friendship projects to Europe. In the Dutch parliament, Communist seats have dropped from 56 to 27. In the Soviet zone of Austria, Communists lost 10 of their 11 parliamentary seats. In Belgium, they lost five out of 12 seats in the lower house and two out of five in the senate . . . In Denmark they dropped from 76 elective posts to only 24 . . . The Dutch Communist newspaper is now down from 400,000 circulation to around 100,000, while the Communist press of France has taken similar losses . . . most amazing development, however, is in Italy, where two top Communist senators have resigned from the party and are starting an independent party similar to Tito's.

Military scuttlebutt—the air force is probing complaints of kickbacks and shortages at the Bolling Field Officers club outside Washington. Maj. Dan H. Rogers, officer-in-charge, has resigned . . . Army Chief of Staff General Collins told the Senate Armed Services committee behind closed doors that there are now 950,000 Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur's intelligence at the same time reported only 276,000 . . . here are the result of a check on reports that Col. James Demarest has been made special consultant to the quartermaster general at the behest of ex-assistant secretary of defense Paul Griffith. (the quartermaster, of course, hands out some of the juiciest contracts in government.) Colonel Demarest draws $40 a day whenever consulted, was appointed January 22, and is associated in public relations with Paul Griffith, according to the quartermaster corps. It was denied, however, that Griffith recommended Demarest for the job . . . Griffith, when queried, denied everything—even that he was associated with Demarest in public relations work. But when told that the quartermaster stated just the opposite, Griffith admitted he had discussed a public relations setup with Demarest. (Wonder how a public relations man could be worth $40 a day for advising the army on war contracts?) . . . The munitions board's failure to stockpile wool has forced the army to bid against the Russians on the Australian wool market—with the price going up every day.

Unhappy good neighbors—Latin Americans have a bone to pick with Debonair Eric Johnston, the new economic stabilizer. Johnston's name is signed to the Chapultepec treaty by which the U. S. A. agrees to consult with its good neighbors before freezing prices. However, Johnston didn't consult. Latin-American ambassadors were merely called in at the last minute and told. There was no consultation . . . The American public doesn't realize it, but the Latinos get hit harder than anyone else by price freezes. They sell us coffee, for instance, at frozen prices, but can't buy back autos, scarce machinery, minerals, etc., because we don't have them to spare. Then, after war, the prices of these scarce articles go up . . . Look out for trouble in Venezuela. When college students and faculty in Caracas petitioned President Suarez Flamerich to release political prisoners, the army proceeded to throw students and faculty into jail too. President Flamerich, out of sympathy with the army, presented his resignation, but the army refused to accept it. He remains in office with a pistol at his back.

Heart Ailments Rob Services Of Many Needed Divisions

February is the month devoted to the annual fundraising campaign of the American Heart Association.

No one needs to be reminded that heart diseases are the leading cause of death in the United States. They account for upwards of 40 per cent of all deaths, outstripping the dreaded cancer by three to one.

This year, however, it may be more fitting to focus on just one phase of this medical problem: its ravages among actual or prospective members of our armed forces.

During World War II, 317,500 men were rejected for military service because of heart ailments. This amounted to 3½ per cent of all selective service registrants examined.

In addition, some 80,000 men either were given disability discharges from service or died in service as result of heart diseases in the war years.

These nearly 400,000 men would have been enough to man 27 infantry divisions at their World War II strength. That's equivalent to about a fifth of all men we put into the Pacific theater.

The government figures that it cost $16,000 per case—or $640,000,000 in all—to handle the servicemen inactivated by heart disease during the war. The Navy estimates that it lost 4,000,000 man-days because of rheumatic fever and related rheumatic heart disease.

The shocking fact in this statistics is that we are here talking about young men, not oldsters who might be expected to exhibit signs of declining health.

The military's experience in World War II may well be repeated in the current crisis. It's too early yet for any general figures. But the Pittsburgh Press, analyzing draft rejections in that area, reports that one out of every eight men turned down has an organic heart disturbance.

When we are trying to find sufficient able-bodied young men to man our expanding military establishments, we feel keenly the effect of such deep ravages in the nation's health. High rejection rates plague our top soldiers, and are a compelling factor in demands for broader draft laws which will assure us a really safe manpower backlog.

But the dilemma in this field is only a small part of the heart disease puzzle. In 1948, last year for which complete, accurate figures are available, almost 638,000 people died of this ailment in America. No medical man pretends the situation is improving.

Give as generously as you can to the heart campaign, in the sure knowledge that you are attacking man's worst killer.

The Doctor Says—

We Still Can't Cope With Flue, Dread Epidemic Disease

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Of all the great epidemic diseases influenza—the dread "flu"—is perhaps the most mysterious. Today we are again faced with great peril from this source. Report of influenza in continental Europe and the British Isles indicate that this disease is again rampant. Even before these words see print the "flu" may have struck the Western Hemisphere. And sad to relate, as it spreads, influenza tends to get worse.

Long before good records were kept on the epidemic diseases, the flu must have taken its toll as judged by historical accounts which were blood curdling even if not scientific. Just when a world-wide epidemic will start, however, still cannot be predicted even though it is now known that influenza is caused by a virus.

But there are several varieties or strains of the flu virus and since the last world epidemic of the disease occurred in 1917-18 and the virus was only identified in the 1930s there has been up to now no chance to study the two together.

If and when we are really hit by a general epidemic what can we do about it? Unfortunately not much. Vaccination has been tried, but because there are several kinds of viruses involved, building up resistance to one does not mean that the next one which comes along will not knock us down.

The time may come when vaccination will bring protection, and indeed some of the most intelligent scientists in the world are working on this problem, but until this can be accomplished we are as helpless to resist the disease as our ancestors were.

Influenza strikes the healthy and strong as easily as the weak or infirm. Indeed the man who "has never been sick a day in his life" and then gets the flu is perhaps running the greatest risk of all because he is not used to giving in to illness.

Go to Bed

If what is coming is really one of the great influenza epidemics and behaves at all like those of the past, it will strike suddenly causing fever and severe prostration. The best thing to do is to go to bed at once, drink plenty of fluids and call the doctor. There is grave danger of pneumonia, and the heart may be weakened.

It is most important to stay in bed until the fever has gone and for some time afterwards. Getting out of bed too early may lead to complications or even death.

If You Are 'Mousy' Type It's Easy to Snap Out of It

Trying to describe another woman, the woman speaking searched around for words and then finally said: "This doesn't sound kind, but the only way I can describe her is to say that she is 'the mousy type.'"

Quite a few thoroughly nice women make that kind of impression on others. Yet no woman, of any age, ever needs to be the kind of person others think of as "mousy."

How to avoid it? Start with your looks. If you think you are rather nondescript-looking, get some zip into the picture you present to the world. You can do it easily through a graceful walk, a becoming and up-to-the-minute hair style, careful make-up and clothes that make a definite impression.

Come Out of Your Shell

Then work on your personality. The mousy type acts almost scared when she meets strangers. So avoid that withdrawn, frightened appearance, by looking right at the people who talk to you. Make some kind of small talk when the occasion demands. Let your face respond to what others say, instead of seeming to let nothing touch you.

Don't stand back waiting for others to make the first move toward friendliness. That is what the mousy little woman does. Make your liking for a new acquaintance felt. You can't go wrong by showing others you like them and enjoy their company. That is the sincerest kind of flattery—and everybody eats it up.

And don't be forever apologizing for yourself. Do what you think is right. Do as well as you can. And then let other people take it or leave it.

How awful for any woman to be described as the "mousy type." How awful—but how absolutely unnecessary.

Soviet Political Group Grows

MOSCOW—(AP)—The All Union Society for the Dissemination of Political and Scientific knowledge is disseminating a lot of political and scientific knowledge. Membership has reached 40,000—almost trebling since 1948.

In 1947 the Society had organized about 1,000 lectures a month in towns and villages. In 1948, 7,000 lectures were given in a month, but in 1949 the total had grown to about 20,000 lectures a month.

Slow Recognition

Benjamin Franklin discovered the fact that storms are eddies traveling along the earth's surface as a result of an investigation into the reason a northeast wind-storm struck Philadelphia before it struck Boston. A hundred years later, it was decided that he was right.

Heaved-up sidewalks and highways, that usually follow a cold winter, soon may be a thing of the past. Engineers have developed a process which halts the destructive effects or frost on concrete. The process involves injecting tiny air bubbles into the liquid concrete.

Even the experts are unable to tell us for certain where chimney swifts spend the winter.

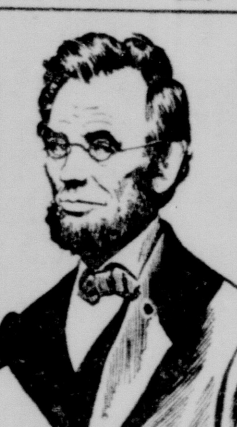

• Side Glances

"It really is a lovely set of dishes, but you don't know how awkward my husband is with a dishpan!"

LINCOLN AND GETTYSBURG

Lincoln rose, and reading from his manuscript, began to speak in a high-pitched voice. His enunciation was clear, and his voice carried to the limits of the crowd. He spoke for less than three minutes, and this is what he said:

"Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation—or any other nation, so conceived and so dedicated—can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that that these honored dead will take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

No Red Herring About This, Eh, Harry?

Crimson Holiday

By Jane Holsinger

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Uncompromising, hateful Lavinia Grenable rode to her death when her wheel chair, with the brake saved in two, rolled off a terrace and into a ravine at her home. The engagement of her oldest son Court to Lisa Farwell had been opposed by Henry Farwell, Lisa's father, who warned his daughter that Lavinia would make her miserable. Lisa, who witnessed the tragedy, knew that her father was at the Grenable place at the time, but has said nothing about it. The following day, Lisa, Angus Kent, a young Chicago lawyer who also witnessed the murder, and Mr. Farwell go to Grenables' for questioning by Sheriff Lane.

LI

LISA FARWELL glanced around the room at the others summoned to the scene of the murder of Lavinia Grenable by Sheriff Lane.

The sheriff was a rather ordinary looking man in his early fifties. He was a big man, but he was completely at ease in the atmosphere of the Grenable home. He was new to his office, but as he shook hands with Lisa's father, he recalled that she had seen him before. Her father had designed the sheriff's new house out near the lake.

Lisa nodded to Marion and Philip Carson. Marion was Lavinia's only daughter, a rather acid-tongued blonde. A blonde by choice, rather than by nature. Her husband was a heavy, graying man with a look of the city about him.

Lisa recalled the Carsons only vaguely, for they came to Hilton only once a year at Lavinia's request. It was a strange custom. Court had told her only the other day that his mother had innovated years before when the family began to break up. Once a year, on some holiday, she ordered them back to the nest for a kind of mocking surveillance of their comings and goings. "Command performance!" Court had said gaily. But this one at Easter had ended in a crimson holiday—in Lavinia's death.

There had been trouble, Lisa remembered vaguely, between Marion's husband Philip, and Lavinia. She hadn't wanted them to marry. But then, she hadn't approved of Andrew's choice, either. Strange, and with a little clutch of fear Lisa thought, she approved of me for Court, Why?

Elizabeth Stratton captured Lisa's attention for the moment. She was sitting very still and deathly white beside Geri Palmer and Lisa saw Geri pat the old woman's hand once.

Elizabeth tried to smile, but nothing resulted. She sat there in the needlepoint chair by the door, Lavinia Grenable's sister, and the naked terror in her eyes was like an advance admission of her guilt. Lisa saw it and Henry Farwell knew it and before very long the police, if they hadn't already, would seize upon it, too. Lisa wanted to go to Elizabeth, for she had been very close to the Farwells during the years and Lisa herself was named after the other woman. As unlike Lavinia as love from hate, the thin core of devilry threading through Lavinia's nature had been equally matched by the sweetness in Elizabeth.

But Lisa was afraid to cross the room to her side, knowing the very act of comfort would mean danger by bringing attention to her manner.

LISA felt caught in the web of discord woven by these people in the Grenable house. Watching them, Lavinia's children, her sister, her secretary, she was struck with the tragic lack of grief in all of them. And she knew that even to offer sympathy to Court would be like lamenting the passing of a catastrophe.

She looked around for Andrew Grenable and hesitatingly asked

Court, "Where's Andy?" Court lit another cigaret uneasily and threw her a sidelong glance toward his fiancée.

"Andy's sleeping off last night's binge," he said, scowling.

The room, large and square, was a combination sunroom and music room. A grand piano filled the wall corner and a harp stood opposite it across the doorway. An ivory bust of Lavinia, made in the arrogance of her twenties, leered at them from its onyx pedestal in the window area.

Sheriff Lane took the deep chair in front of the north windows facing them. Lisa discovered he had cleverly arranged the lighting to fall revealingly on their every expression. He said:

"As I told all of you, this is not an inquest. You will be allowed complete freedom for the funeral tomorrow, but I must remind you that no one will be allowed to fall Hilton until after the inquest, which will be set for sometime next week.

"As you know, Mrs. Grenable was murdered. The police have ascertained beyond doubt the wheel chair was tampered with and the emergency brake saved in half. Right now I want a statement from each of you concerning the connection with the household and your activities the day of Mrs. Grenable's death."

HAVING said what he had to say, the sheriff plunged his hands in his pockets, nodded to Geri Palmer who was apparently taking notes for him, and leaned back in his chair.

Suddenly, Lisa discovered that Sheriff Lane was looking at her. Quickly she repeated what had happened while she and Angus had witnessed the scene.

Angus Kent took up the story, for it was he who had told Lisa to telephone for help, and he had assisted the doctor and the police in finding Mrs. Grenable's body.

With these details established, Lane asked quickly: "Miss Farwell, while you were on Old Elm Road, or within the boundaries of the Grenable property, did you see anyone nearby prior to, or immediately after the murder?"

Add Slaw to Menus For Lent

UNUSUAL TABLEMATES are sauerkraut slaw, broiled scallops, baked potatoes and brown bread.

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

For your menus for Lent, which began Wednesday Rosamond Chapin of New Boston, Mass., comes up singing of hot sauerkraut slaw.

Mrs. Chapin is a dramatic soprano of note and a fabulous cook. This combination of sauerkraut and scallops she serves at the New Boston Inn.

Hot Sauerkraut Slaw

(4 Servings)
Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/4 cup tarragon vinegar, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash cayenne pepper, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 cup drained sauerkraut, 1 small onion, thinly sliced, 1/2 cup grated raw carrots.

In a saucepan, melt butter over simmer burner; add flour and blend. Add milk and cook over simmer burner until thick, stirring constantly. In a cup, blend vinegar, mustard, sugar, salt and pepper.

Stir this mixture into the sauce until well blended. Add egg, continuing to simmer for 2 minutes while stirring briskly. Add vegetables; mix well and serve immediately. This hot slaw is excellent with fish scallops.

Savory Sauerkraut

(4-6 Servings)
One No. 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1/4 cup tarragon vinegar, 1/2 cup red wine, 1/4 cup light brown sugar, salt, freshly ground pepper.

In a saucepan, combine sauerkraut and caraway seeds; simmer 20 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; simmer 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Serve with broiled, baked or fried fish.

MENU

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, oatmeal, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON — Scrambled eggs, stewed tomatoes and onions, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, baked apples, tea, milk.

DINNER — Cranberry and orange juice, broiled Cape scallops, baked potatoes, buttered green beans, hot sauerkraut slaw, Boston brown bread, butter or fortified margarine, creamy rice pudding, coffee.

An aluminum car, weighing only 770 pounds, with a battery-charged electric motor, was invented in Paris.

FLOWERED HAT — Roses and eggs are used as a combination on a black horse-hair crown for a pretty evening hat by Rose Valois of Paris. A large diamond clip placed in the center of the hat gives it a glittering effect.

Try Bucks County Kraut Dish

SAUERKRAUT SUPREME is what is getting the concentrated attention of Mrs. Walter Malone, of Solebury, Pa., and her daughters.

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

In Bucks county, Pa., sauerkraut is an important food that is genuinely appreciated in this area of good living. Typical of their favorite kraut dishes are the recipes below, taken from the recently published "Bucks Cooks," an outstanding 228-page cookbook.

Through the efforts of the writers, artists and other residents of Bucks county, this cookbook was compiled to raise money to enlarge the chapel of Trinity church in Solebury. The 388 signed recipes reflect the best in Bucks county traditions and were all tested by women of the church (The book is for sale at Woman's Auxiliary, Trinity chapel, Solebury, Pa., for $2.75.)

Roast Goose With Sauerkraut
(Makes stuffing for one 12-lb. goose)

One goose (about 12 pounds), 1 cup tomato sauce or juice, 3/4 cup sherry, 4 sprigs celery, 1 large carrot, 3 cups water, 3 tablespoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon goose fat, 1 large onion, 1 No. 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, 12 teaspoons caraway seeds, 1 large potato, 1/2 cup water.

Put carrot and celery into the bird. Fry onion in fat, add sauerkraut and grated potato. Then add caraway seeds, salt, pepper and water. Turn bird every half hour. After 1 1/2 hours, take out of oven. Take out carrot and celery and stuff it with sauerkraut and potato stuffing. Let it roast for another hour dry, without any juice.

If all these pieces were real diamonds instead of rhinestones, zircons, white topaz and white sapphires, they would be worth well in excess of $50,000,000.

Baste Goose California Style

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

In California, good cooks combine characteristic foods of the state, such as dried fruit, ripe olives and wine with sauerkraut.

Mrs. Stanley Hardman of Pacific Palisades gives her recipe for special occasion dinners.

Sauerkraut Stuffing and Basting For Roast Goose. (Makes Stuffing for one 8-pound Goose)

One tablespoon goose fat or bacon drippings, 1 large onion, minced, 1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut, ¾ cup currants or raisins, ¼ cup caraway seeds, salt, and freshly ground pepper, goose drippings, ½ cup sherry wine or water, ½ cup water, ½ cup catsup.

Prepare and roast goose according to favorite directions. Spoon following sauerkraut dressing into goose for last hour of roasting.

In a large skillet, heat goose fat; add minced onion and sauté until golden brown. Add sauerkraut, currants or raisins, caraway seeds, salt and pepper; simmer 10 minutes.

It will not be necessary to close goose after inserting stuffing. In a bowl, combine drippings, wine, water and catsup. Baste goose with this sauce at 10-minute intervals.

Another California specialty comes from Mrs. Arthur S. Huey of Long Beach, Calif.

Sauerkraut Dutch Pie (Makes 6 Servings)

One pound ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, freshly ground pepper, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, ¾ pound bulk sausage, 1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 1 cup sliced ripe olives.

In a bowl, combine ground beef, salt, pepper and onion salt. Form mixture into patties. In a skillet, heat fat; brown beef patties on both sides. Place tomatoes in a small saucepan and simmer 10 minutes. Form sausage into patties and brown on both sides in hot fat.

On bottom of 2-quart casserole, place browned beef patties; add layers of sauerkraut, olives and tomatoes, reserving part of the tomatoes for the top of the casserole; top with browned sausage patties and cover with remaining tomatoes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour.

MENU

BREAKFAST—Grapefruit, Spanish omelet and enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

DINNER—Cranberry juice, roast goose, stuffed and basted with sauerkraut, mashed potatoes and buttered green beans, rye bread, celery and raw carrot sticks, green apple pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

SUPPER—Tomato cheese rabbit on toast, raw vegetable salad, sliced bananas and oranges, layer cake, tea, milk.

Polio Dance to Be February 17

The polio dance, sponsored by the Moose Club, which was announced to be held February 10, will be held, instead, February 17 at the Moose Lodge, Second street and Lamine avenue. It will be in the form of a dime taxi dance and two floor shows will be provided.

Dime tickets may be brought at the door. Each ticket entitles a couple to one dance. Music will be furnished by Bob Cummings' orchestra.

Dancing will begin at 9:00 o'clock and the first floor show, by the Eagle Minstrels, sponsored by the Missouri-Pacific Women's club, will commence at 10:15 o'clock.

Members of the Beta Tau chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority will handle tickets and money for the evening.

Cook Kraut Noodle Recipe

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

Here are two sauerkraut recipes which Mrs. Fred Gentleman serves often in her ranch home near the Menominee river not far from Milwaukee.

Sauerkraut With Crispy Cornmeal Frankfurters (Makes 4-6 servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 pimientos, cut in thin strips, 1½ cups biscuit mix, ½ cup yellow cornmeal, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1¼ cups milk, 8-10 frankfurters, wooden skewers.

In a saucepan, combine sauerkraut, butter and pimientos. Cover and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, mix dry ingredients in a bowl. Add milk and stir until smooth.

Place frankfurters on skewers. Dip each frankfurter into batter and fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees F.) until golden brown, about 1 minute. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve immediately.

Sauerkraut Noodle Special (Makes 4-6 Servings)

One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon caraway seeds, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces egg noodles, ¾ cup grated American cheese, 6 frankfurters, sliced.

In a bowl, combine sauerkraut, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper and caraway seeds. In a large kettle, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add egg noodles so that water continues to boil.

Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Place half the sauerkraut mixture in a greased casserole. Add half the noodles and sprinkle with ¼ cup grated cheese. Repeat layers using the remaining sauerkraut, noodles and ¼ cup cheese.

Place frankfurters on top of casserole mixture and sprinkle with remaining grated cheese. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Remove cover and continue to bake 15 minutes.

Sauerkraut Is Easy on The Budget

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Staff Writer

The season of Lent and the season of rising meat prices correspond this year. So does the abundance of sauerkraut made from 1950's bumper cabbage crop. Put them together and what have you got? — A few succulent ideas to brighten meatless meals.

Mrs. Wilson Compton, wife of the president of the State College of Washington in Pullman, Wash., praises the flavor combination of Washington state apples and sauerkraut.

As the mother of four children and the wife of a prominent man, Mrs. Compton has learned to give a gourmet twist to the simplest foods. The two following recipes are popular at the president's house.

Sauerkraut-Stuffed Apples (4-6 Servings)

Six large cooking apples, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut, 2 cups chopped apple pulp, 4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.

Remove slice from each apple top; core, and scoop out pulp, leaving a thin shell. In a mixing bowl, combine sauerkraut, apple, butter and nutmeg. Stuff apples, packing firmly.

Place stuffed apples in a baking dish containing 1/4 inch of water. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) one hour, or until apples are done.

Sauerkraut With Sautéed Apple Rings (Makes 4-6 servings)

One No. 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings, 2 tablespoons caraway seed salt, freshly ground pepper, 3 red cooking apples, 2 tablespoons butter or bacon drippings.

In a saucepan, combine sauerkraut and butter or drippings; simmer 30 minutes. Season with caraway seeds, salt and pepper. Wash, core and slice unpeeled apples in 1/2-inch slices.

In a heavy skillet, heat butter or drippings; saute apple rings until tender, but be careful not to break. Mound cooked sauerkraut in center of platter and surround with apple rings. Serve piping hot.

MENU

BREAKFAST — Grapefruit French toast, crisp bacon, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON — Casserole of dried limas, canned tomatoes and onions and cheese, crusty bread or rolls, butter or fortified margarine, ginger pears, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER — Fruit cup, baked salmon steaks, creamed potatoes, sauerkraut-stuffed apples, vegetable relishes or asparagus salad, biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, bing cherry pudding, coffee milk.

BATH NIGHT—PHOOEY! — Barbara Martin, 4, gives her dripping wash cloth a "dirty" look as she takes bath in kitchen sink of her Boone, Ia., home. Portion of house rented by Barbara's parents has no bath tub which complicates matters for the youngster.

MONEY TO BURN—Ever dream of using a $100 bill to light your cigarette? John M. Tatum hasn't done that perhaps, but in the past 28 years he has burned up millions of dollars by tossing bundles of bills into this Treasury Department furnace in Washington. It's his job to dispose of worn-out paper currency.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!
